The London Times, as a last resort, employed a commission of famous experts to investigate the British telephone system. The first report of that commission was recently made public and it is truly a discouraging document. It is admitted by the experts that the service is deplorable, wretched, invoncement; but there is little hope offered: that it will be uch better so long as the system is operated under government control. The faults which are most glaring are those which are always evident in any attempt by the government to run any money-making industry.

ARE YOU A FIGHTER?

Lack of advertising on the part of merchants in their local papers is largely responsible for big business done by mail order houses throughout the country. The mail order house man has caught the idea that there is virtue in printer's ink, and he works it to the limit. By judicious advertising they make the people want what they have to sell.

The best plan to combat the scheme is for merchants to wake up and use the columns of their local papers. The live newspaper man is not slow to see this, and is putting the proposition up to his local merchants, with good effect.

TARIFF MUST BE REVISED.

$15 FOR THIS GENUINE

While war with Mexico would be unfortunate, and while every effort will undoubtedly be made to prevent bloodshed, remarks the New York Journal of Commerce, a very prominent banker at this centre in conversation argued that a conflict at this time would not be entirely without its compensations. "In the first place," this banker said, "it would give President Wilson and the radical members of Congress something else to think of than perpetually hitting business." He predicted that by the end of the current Administration there will have been such a revulsion in feeling that the present tendency to call a man a rascal merely because he has been successful will be overthrown. "The tariff," he continued, "has not been settled. It is still well in the future so far as settlement is concerned. If the present amount of unemployment continues there is bound to be a demand for a revision upward of the tariff. This would not mean that if the present tariff conditions could be made permanent manufacturers would not be able to adjust their affairs to it. It would simply mean that, unfortunately, the tariff cannot be made permanent until some form of revision by commission is adopted."

President Wilson wants to know what's the matter with the country. That's easy-too much Tariff tinkering.-Marshall (Mo.) Republican.

OPTIMISM.

To look on the bright side of life and its affairs with an enthusiastic belief that everything is all right and for the best is ideal. This is especially true as it applies to those who come into contact with the sick. A physician, above all men, should be an optimist-ready to stimulate hope even tho he may not have it himself. Hopefulness in the countenance and optimism in the words and actions of the physician are as sunshine in the sick-room they stimulate hopefulness of recovery in the sick and a courage that has potent influence for good. Even when recovery is not possible, the Journal of the American Medical Association thinks that good not harm, is done. The psychic influence is always felt so long as consciousness lasts. Paget speaking of hypochondriacs, says, "Your-chances of doing good will depend mainly on the skill with which you can influence the patient's mind; for of the components of his case the mental condition is the worst."

WITH THE FARMERS.

The year 1914 promises to be a most successful one in the history of American agriculture and particularly of farming in this section of the country. With corn in good shape, most of the tobacco set out under favorable condiions and growing rapidly, the farmers are at present preparing to reap one of the largest and best crops of wheat, rye and oats of recent years. May the fine weather continue, Old Sol, and just a little rain from you J. Pluvius.

THE INSURANCE TRUST.

Perhaps one of the anti-trust bill ow pending in congress will give the Automobiles federal authorities a chance to take by the throat the gigantic fire insurance trust of America. That this combina ion is a trust and conspiracy there car but little doubt

Acting with absolute unanimity, ev ry fire insurance company withdraws from any state when legislation inimical to its profits is enacted. It is idle to pretend that the fire inurance trust unrestrained has given property owners in Kentucky, or other tates, such rates of insurance as are reasonable. In state after state this trust has been compelled by wise legislation to lower its rates, and while the, bluff has been put up for a time of withdrawing from some of these states, there is no state in which the insurance trust is not again doing business.

If Kentucky had an able and cour ageous business man as governor, who would direct safe and sane insurance legislation and then enforce it, and not simply drift with the tide, the people of this state would not have to look to congressional enactment for the relief to which they are entitled. THE DIVORCE PROBLEM.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.) Paris, Ky., June 8, 1914.

I have been a reader of your paper for over 30 years, and have learned to rely upon the wisdom of your editorial utteraces, but your remarks about divorce in today's issue were not worthy of you in either thought or diction. Now remember, I am not a divorced woman -will never be one, though long married-still I am a firm believer in the sanctity of divorce, and, with the great George Brandes, fervently pray: "God send us more divorces." Begging your pardon, Mr. Editor, I'll remark that your solicitude for the "helpless child" is silly. God never intended that innocent childhood should be passed in a home where a drunken father lives, or a soiled mother or even where continu. ous quarrels abound, or where either parent shows a settled aversion for the other. Here is one fact that cannot be questioned: Those who most persistently and bitterly assail divorce were matically lay down rules for the family never presided over a family. Their views are not entertained for ethical reasons, but simply to bolster up a holy superstition. People who prefer to live together in full enjoyment of each other's disagreeable traits certainly should be allowed to do so, but they should not be allowed to force others to maintain an unhappy nullity MARY O'REAGER.

A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Maysville Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, opeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.
